A Food Inspection Team, organized by the Trade Department of the Central and South China Military and Administrative Committee, arrived in Nanning from Hankow on 16 April 1952. They were to make a month's tour of Kwangsi to investigate the food shortage there; their primary duties were:

1. To inspect the actual quantities of food supplies in Kwangsi.
2. To study the degree of cooperation between the Kwangsi Department of Commerce, the Food Administration, and the food companies in their food supply activities.
3. To determine the number of people in Kwangsi suffering from food shortages, and to discuss effective measures of relief for such persons with the Civil Affairs Department, the Commerce Department and other organizations of Kwangsi.
4. To revise food transportation organizations to meet actual requirements.
5. To inspect the graineries in Kwangsi and to intensify the work of safeguarding government grain in storage throughout the province.
